Extraordinary Session Legislature Called to Consider Walton's Usurpation of Authority—Klan Accuses Executive

LEGISLATURE ADVOCATES LAW AGAINST KU-KLUX

Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—Event in Oklahoma today moved toward a showdown between Governor Walton and the state legislature over the governor's exercise of authority and his war on the Ku-Klux Klan and mob floggers. Call for extraordinary sessions of the house to consider serious charges that Walton had taken into himself powers of a despot, and supplanted constitutional dictatorship was issued early today. Walton previously said he would jail any member who attempted to call a special session.

Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—The statement that Governor Walton has made the Ku-Klux Klan a "peg on which political bankruptcy has hung the lettered battlements of grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor was issued here today by N. C. Jewett, Grand Dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma. He said the Klan was not going to fight back but would leave it to the people of Oklahoma to settle the fight. He added that Walton did not know upon the Klan until he learned they did not smile on him. He said it was a matter of indisputable record that Walton was irregularly made a member of the Klan and when that fact was learned recognition of his membership card was refused.

Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—To forestall charges that the extraordinary session is "Klan legislature" the committee of seven state representatives today issued a statement declaring they advocated a "law prohibiting the wearing of masks, of masked assemblages and to serve penalties for floggings of mob violence in any form."

R. U. REPRESENTATIVES PUT ON WASHER CAMPAIGN

The thrifty American housewife who finds trouble in getting her laundry work done satisfactorily, can still eliminate the hard work of washing by adopting the modern electric washer, according to L. W. McLellan, of Louisville, Commercial Manager of the Kentucky Utilities Company, who is making this annual inspection of the properties of the company. Electricity is being adopted more and more for all the hard tasks in office, factories and in mines and the housewife has been quick to adopt this power to relieve her of the drudgery of housework.

A few years ago washers were sold only to the very wealthy. But by adopting very liberal payment plans, extending the payments over a period of 18 months, the electric washer is brought within the reach of practically everyone.

Mr. McLellan spent the day yesterday in Middlesboro going on to Harlan Friday, returning Friday night for the Fall Festival. He is accompanied on his tour by E. H. Richardson, District Supervisor of the Federal Electric Co., of Cincinnati, O.

STARS OF HORSESHOE SPORT READY TO FLING

Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—The fourth annual tournament under the auspices of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association opens here tomorrow with representatives from 24 states, including all of the games celebrities, participating. According to John H. Gouley, of the Cleveland Recreation Council, it will be the largest in the history of the sport.

At least 200 will compete in the men's tournament alone. Mr. Gouley added. In addition to the men's tournament, there will be a tournament for women and one for boys under 15.

Probably the most conspicuous player in the tourney will be Harold Falor, a 15-year-old Akron boy who won the national championship at St. Petersburg, Fla., last winter. Mrs. J. F. Francisco, of Muskegon, Mich., is the holder of the women's title.

MANY WORK FOR ROAD BOND ISSUE

Men and Women Busy in Every Section Campaigning for $50,000,000 Bond Issue

By Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20.—More than 6,000 persons, many of them women, will be actively working in every precinct in the state for the passage of the $50,000,000 road bond issue when the organization now being formed is complete, according to the campaign plans of the Kentucky Good Roads Association announced by Eustace L. Williams, executive secretary of the association.

The immediate object of the campaign to get the legislature in 1924 to pass an enabling act permitting the bond issue for completion of Kentucky's primary system of roads to be submitted to the voters and to educate the people of Kentucky into the benefits to be derived from good roads and to show that passage of the bonds will mean no increase in the tax rate. For this purpose a campaign fund of $125,000 is being raised in the state.

A thorough canvass of the newspapers of the state who have been asked to assist in drafting the proposed measure, shows that practically every newspaper in Kentucky is behind the move to complete the 4,175 miles of the primary system. However many are opposed to any increase in taxation and favor the plan for the bonds to be retired with funds raised through tax on gasoline and automobile license fees. It is pointed out by the association that the total of about $3,000,000 a year is ample to pay interest and create a sinking fund for the bonds notwithstanding that construction of more roads will immediately result in a great increase in the number of automobiles and a big gain in revenues from both gasoline tax and license fees.

A number of the most prominent speakers in Kentucky have volunteered to take the stump for the road bonds and state headquarters in Louisville intend to place in the hands of each of the 1,000,000 voters in the state literature explaining the bond issue and the method of paying for the roads without increasing taxes but instead by placing the burden of cost upon the shoulders of those using them.

The plan of organization contemplates forming a campaign committee for men and another for women in each of the 120 counties of the state. The county organization will be expected to appoint men and women chairmen in each voting precinct and much of the work of educating the voters will be done by mail. Three headquarters have been opened, the office in Louisville being state headquarters while headquarters for the eastern division have been opened in Lexington and that for western division in Madisonville. W. G. Gouley, Reattville, is chairman of the eastern division; Jim Marel of Lexington, being executive secretary. Marlin Blackwell of Dixon, is chairman of the western division. Mrs. John L. Gray of Madisonville, being executive secretary.

The president of the state association is C. Montgomery of Elizabethtown, and Frank B. Russell, of Louisville, is treasurer.

MIDDLESBORO CHORAL CLUB REHEARSAL IS TONIGHT

The Middlesboro Choral club will have its regular weekly rehearsal on Thursday night at the First Presbyterian church Sunday school room at 7:30 o'clock. It is expected there will be more than double the number present tonight that there was last week.

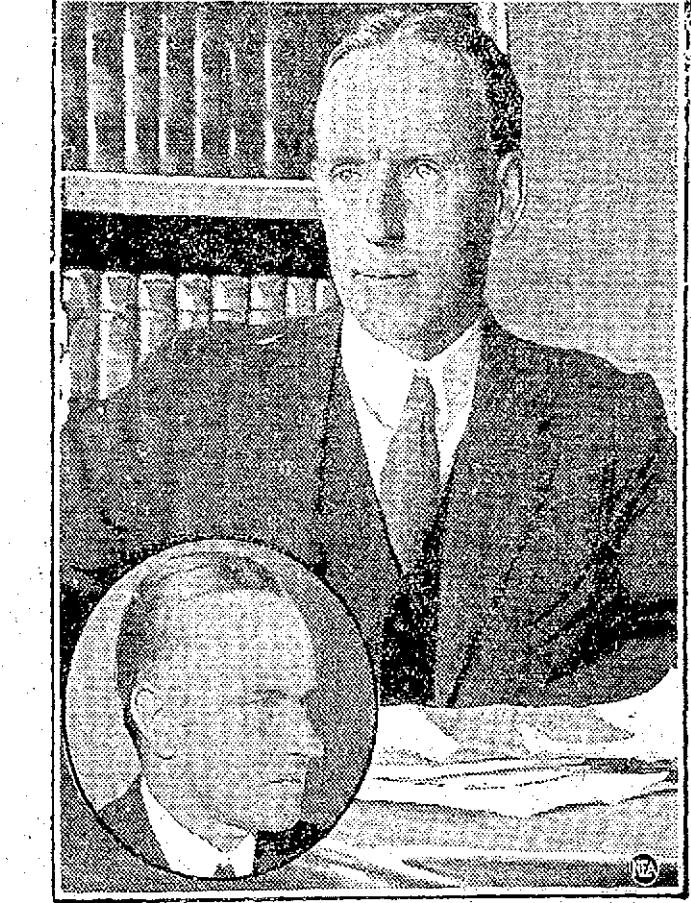

The four numbers of the six or eight in all that will be rehearsed, that were started last week, are "Far Away," a Londoner's air whose origin is lost in antiquity; "Goin' Home," from the Largo of the symphony, "From the New World," by Anton Dvorak; "Night Fall in Granada," by L. Bueno, a very lively Spanish song; "Patria," by C. Whitney Combs, a very tuneful patriotic number.

The hour and a half spent under Professor Carr's direction passes away before one is aware of it, so very entertaining, instructive and enjoyable does he make it.

ASSESSMENTS FOR 1924 BEING MADE

W. H. Gagle, District Assessor, Asks Owners to List All Real and Personal Property

Assessments for 1924, state and county taxes, are now being made by W. H. Gagle, assessor for this, the sixth district. He requests that all real and personal property owners come in and have their assessments made. His office is on Cumberland avenue opposite the Maunfing theatre.

The present assessments are made as July 1, that is, assessments will be made against the person who owned the property on the first day of last July. Assessments will be made until November 1 after which time the books will be returned over to the county board of supervisors.

Mr. Gagle says that present indications are that a substantial increase will be shown in the 1924 assessments. Many improvements have been made since last year. This is the sixth year that Mr. Gagle has made the assessments for this district which include nearly half of the county. During this time he has put the records in good shape and has done much to straighten out tangles of conflicting property interests.

Circus Yesterday Has All Vaunted Charm, Attendance Over 13,000

A decided trend toward the artistic and a paucity of the old-time circus acts were evident at the performance of the John Robinson circus here yesterday. Both the afternoon and the evening shows were well attended and the public was generally pleased.

One of the acts that has caused much favorable comment was that of the dancing horses. All of the acts were well received, particularly those of Felix Mottola, who slid on his head down a tall wire and turned a complete somersault on the wire; Theodore Tyler, who proved his mastery over an aggregation of fierce lions and the parade in "Peter Pan in Animal Land." The parade acts were in the minor

MUSICAL INTEREST URGED IN SCHOOLS

Child's Education Incomplete Without Emotional Training, Says State Music Director

By Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 20.—School teachers are urged to begin intensive work this year in the musical training of children under their care in a letter sent out today by Miss Caroline Bourgard, newly appointed director of music for Kentucky. The office of state director of music created by the legislature of 1922.

Miss Bourgard, in her letter to all county superintendents declares that "a child's education, along intellectual and physical lines, lacking emotional training is incomplete." She urges superintendents and teachers to begin at once the process of building up the music departments of schools. She pays tribute to Dr. George Colvin, state superintendent, Dr. P. P. Claxton, former commissioner of education, and Dr. John J. Tigert, successor to Dr. Claxton, for their work in the cause of music in the schools.

"The basic element of music, beauty, rhythm, melody and harmony all are found to be dominant forces in the laws governing the universe" the letter states. "This brings music in close touch with child life and development. Music is one of the latest additions to the course of study. Naturally the methods of teaching have been more or less crude, unscientific, not on a par with those of the other subjects. For this reason, results have seldom been satisfactory and have therefore failed to win the respect of those in authority.

"The time will come when specialists in public school music will have had better training and equipment and approved methods will be obtained. But a beginning must be made now. No matter how meagre and poor the work has been in the past, the teacher can build upon it, seeking to improve, strengthen and supplement it by replacing the imperfect for something better.

Some county superintendents have already employed a county music supervisor who should function most helpfully. But it will be many years, if ever, before the responsibility of teaching the subject will be shifted from the grade or rural teachers. The problem and solution rest upon them. A child's education, along intellectual and physical lines, lacking emotional training is incomplete. My plea, therefore, is that you earnestly to impress upon every teacher under your jurisdiction the necessity for some music study and improvement during the year, and report results from time to time, or at the end of each semester, to you or to the State Director of Music at Frankfort.

Splendid New Hostelry in Neighboring Town Will Cost Near Half Million Dollars

Hazard's finest structure costing close to one-half million of dollars is nearing completion or in other words the public will be able to admire the magnificence of D. Y. Combs' new hotel within the next few months says the Hazard Leader, Hazard, Ky., center of the great Hazard coal fields of Eastern Kentucky.

The building is of brick, five stories high, with 121 bedrooms, two elevators, a large ball room, a large dining room, a cafeteria, a large wash room, a drug store, a complete laundry plant, a complete ice plant making its own ice. Each room has a separate bathroom and toilet.

There is a mezzanine room overlooking the lobby in which there will be writing tables for the use of the patrons. A barber shop will be in the basement and a pool room is in one of the store rooms.

There are many interesting features about the hotel. The cost of the building is estimated at $400,000. The lumber was prepared by a lathe and other machinery on the first floor of the hotel. The cost of the furniture is estimated at $80,000.

There is a court in the center of the hotel which may be seen from the rear. This is for the purpose of giving ventilation to all rooms. In this court will be planted a flower garden.

A three-story structure will be erected in the rear of the hotel to extend to the river front, and the garden will be beautifully decorated with flowers.

The building has a number of fire escapes, and two elevators, one passenger and one freight. There are six methods of escape from either floor. On the fifth floor there is a large ballroom that will be used for the social events of the community.

There is a complete refrigerating plant in the hotel with a capacity of making 4,800 pounds of ice daily.

One feature is a baggage room in the front portion of the hotel where all baggage will be kept.

About 200 Entries for Exhibits Up to Noon Today in Big Tent—Booths of Merchants are a Most Pleasing Display

MANY PRIZES TO BE GIVEN BY MERCHANTS

The Harvest Festival opened with an encouraging attendance this morning and the ground has been a mecca for Middlesboro and out of town people all day. Owing to the fact that many of the principal exhibits will not be entered tomorrow and the amusement program proper does not begin until that time, visitors from the country have not begun to arrive in great numbers.

Approximately 20 entries of exhibits had been made at noon today, according to W. C. Blair, who is in charge of the information and registration booth, and more were being entered as rapidly as possible. These are being placed in the big tent on the shelves and tables provided for the purpose. A number of poultry exhibits had been made at noon and some of these had been placed in the special display coops at the rear of the lot.

The grounds presented a scene of bustle and feverish work to get the booths properly arranged and equipped all day. Those that have completed are attractively decorated and contain novel and instructive displays.

The Indiana Entertainers, the orchestra engaged for the musical entertainment for the first two days of the Festival has been giving concerts intermittently throughout the day at the build stand and at the front of the lot. The music is both classic and novel in its nature and the instruments can be heard all over the lot and on the streets.

For the accommodation of the visitors the Christian church has a lunch and refreshment stand at the front of the lot in which women of the church have varied line of lunches, pies, sandwiches, salads, coffee and soft drinks are sold at this place.

The guessing contests seem to be leading in popularity. The Citizens Bank has two at its foot on the Festival grounds. One, a round glass bowl filled with new Peace dollars and another, cylindrical in shape, filled with Buffalo nickels. Prizes will be awarded to the person guessing the nearest to the amount of money in the jars.

The National Bank has a similar contest though the coin display is at the bank. A square glass bowl is filled with coins and bills, indiscriminately intermingled, and the problem is to guess the total amount of money in it. The contests of both banks have attracted large crowds all day and nearly everyone registers a guess.

The W. T. Cullison store has three interesting contests. The person making the nearest correct guess as to the number of feet of wire in the Restite bed springs will be given a set of the springs. To the person making the best guess as to the number of beans in a jar will be given a Sellers Kitchen cabinet. The winner of the White Swan mattress will be the person holding the lucky number.

At the Heams Hardware company store a set of Daseo knives, a French flashlight and a Remington pocket knife will be given to the holders of the lucky number. Two gallons of Mastic paint and two rolls of Rubberoid roofing will be awarded in the same manner at the office of the Allen Lumber company.

Merchants booths which have already been equipped and decorated were objects of interest to all visitors this morning. The remainder of the booths will be arranged this afternoon.

At the Kentucky Utilities company booth, a Hotpoint electric range, washing machines and churn were displayed. A variety of lamp bulbs were there and a visible demonstration of a new model electric water heater was in operation.

At the Storch Bros. and Tennent booth there was a Copper-clad range, a Hoosier cabinet and other articles of standard useful kitchen equipment.

At the Gibson Bros. booth there are Edison, Victor and Columbia gramophones and a large assortment of the latest records. One of the prizes is a Kenton gramophone.

At the H. H. H. booth there are a variety of records and a large assortment of the latest records. One of the prizes is a Kenton gramophone.

Four Watches

Four watches do the great hills keep Beside their altars high. Above the vales of men and things Forever passing by.

The Spring with youth and beauty comes

As if all the life were May. With song and cheer and festive dance, Along a flowery way.

The dances end of Summer nears.

And with a veil of gold She hides the meaning all must learn Ere all her ways are told.

With quiet pace the Autumn comes

The song and laughter ceases, And over the harvest fields the winds Go chanting hymns of peace.

The Winter walks the vales alone

Where comrades feet have passed; At every door of memory He sets the wide bars last.

Four watches do the great hills keep

Beside their altars high.

Unchanting while in vales below

Cider

Sweet cider conjures up thoughts of roaring fires and roasted nuts and country fairs and good times generally, but the cook will find a welcome change in seasonings in this homely beverage.

Our grandmothers considered boiled cider indispensable in their mince-meat, ham was baked in cider, apples were boiled in cider and how we use cider in a delicious salad.

Of course there's nothing like pure cider vinegar for pickles, the purer the better, and good salad dressing depends on the richness and sharpness of the vinegar.

Boiled cider is put on the market by several business houses, but if you can make your own cider why not boil some? Cider for boiling must be very sweet, just fresh from the press. To make boiled cider fill a preserving kettle with sweet cider. As it boils away add more cider. Keep replenishing until the whole kettle of cider begins to thicken and become syrupy.

Continue boiling without adding more cider and reduce one-half. Pour into sterilized cans and seal. Boiled cider should be almost as thick as molasses. One cup of boiled cider will season three mince pies. Even if you make your mince-meat in the modern fashion using candied fruits and nuts rather than beef heart and suet and raisins and apples you will like the taste of the boiled cider in this year of 1923.

Ham Baked in Cider

A whole ham or a three-inch slice of ham can be used for baking. A small family will find the slice preferable to a larger amount.

One slice ham cut three inches thick. 1-2 cup sweet cider, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, whole cloves, stick cinnamon.

Pour boiling water over ham and let stand 15 minutes. Drain and wipe dry. Mix mustard thoroughly with brown sugar and rub well in to ham. Stick cloves into the fat. Sprinkle over pepper and lay a few pieces of stick cinnamon over top. Put meat into roaster and add cider. Bake two hours in a moderate oven. For the last half hour of baking watch closely as the cider and brown sugar will burn easily when greatly reduced.

If a whole or half a ham is used increase ingredients in proportion of the given ingredients for three pounds of meat.

Cider Salad

One tablespoon granulated gelatin 1-4 cup cold water, 1 1-2 cups sweet cider, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 6 whole cloves, 1-2 cup nut meats, 1-2 cup minced celery, 1-4 cup white grapes, lettuce, salad dressing.

Soften gelatin in boiling water. Add sugar, salt and cloves to cider and bring to the boiling point. Strain over gelatin. Stir until dissolved and add lemon juice. When beginning to set add nuts, celery and grapes, skinned and seeded. Turn into mold and let stand until firm and chilled. Serve on a bed of lettuce with cream salad dressing.

CONSTITUTION DAY OBSERVED BY KIWANIS

Dr. Mathews, L M U President Gives
Talk on Citizenship at Luncheon
—Miss Barry Sings, Orchestra Music

PLANS FOR CONVENTION
NEXT WEEK GONE OVER

The Constitution Week program of the Kiwanis Club today, under the chairmanship of C O Brown was one of the best the club has had in months. Dr. O Matthews president of Lincoln Memorial university gave an eloquent and forcible talk on the duty of a red blooded American citizen. Miss Virginia Barry sang the Star-Spangled Banner and 'You Never Miss the Sunshine' while the Indiana Serenaders the musicians for the Lincoln Festival gave a splendid program of orchestra numbers and specialties. Dr. H Overton won the attendance prize. The silent boost was given to J E Beach.

This was the last Kiwanis meeting before the convention and last minute instructions were given out by Pres A P Lebig. He appointed the ladies' committee to have charge of the visiting ladies luncheon and tea as follows: Mrs C K Brosheer, Mrs Hugh Allen, Mrs W D Tamm, Mrs R Walker, Shultz. Payment of the registration Mrs J C Zimmerman and Mrs Jakob fee of five dollars was also emphasized.

In regard to the proposed change in the time of the train, Mr. Lebig said that he had a letter from the L & N office saying that after September 30 the train would leave here at 5:05 a. m. forty minutes earlier in order that travelers from the north might not have so long to lay over in Pineville. The following committee was appointed to protest this change: Judge T E Evans, Dr. Jacob Shultz and Major L S Helburn.

Dr. Mathews' scheduled to speak on some phase of the Constitution could no more than touch the subject because of his limited time. He began by emphasizing this the supreme law of our country saying that one never fully realizes the benefits of his heritage as an American citizen until he has seen the rest of the world. Emphasizing this Dr. Mathews held of his list visit to torn and devastated Europe and how glad he was to get home away from all that tragedy.

Quoting Macaulay Dr. Mathews said that if America fell it would be from enemies within and not without and he put it up to the red blooded citizens of this nation to conquer these internal enemies. 'A vast struggle is going on around our institutions today,' the speaker declared, 'and it is the duty of the real American to face the situation with full vision neither too optimistic belittling the dangers nor too pessimistic seeing certain doom of all.'

Dr. Mathews then went on to say that it was the spirit of lawlessness and lack of reverence for the Constitution and laws of the country that was making the trouble here and was causing this to be listed as the most lawless country in the world. The trouble rises from the soap box speaker assailing the Constitution and the higher up men obeying only the part of the Constitution he wants to,' he declared. 'It is not a question of enforcing the law if it is popular,' he continued flaying in no uncertain terms those persons who held to this policy. 'The only question is whether a law is right and whether it is American.'

A revival of militant patriotism was given by the speaker in closing as the our remedy of existent conditions and he put it up to the 'red blooded American citizen' to bring about this revival.
